The land (about 7 beeghas) upon which another house for foremen is built, together with the house, is held on a lease which expires in August 1885, the rent being Rs. 60 a month.

The buildings for manufacturing purposes are all built of brick and roofed with flat arches turned upon iron girders, and, besides having side doors and windows, there are numerous roof sky-lights to give increased light and ventilation.

The preparing and spinning rooms are driven by two pairs of compound horizontal engines each 50 H.P., and made by Messieurs Musgrave and Sons. The spinning rooms contain 3,878 spindles, and the preparing machinery is ample.

The weaving factory is driven by one compound horizontal engine of 60 H.P. made by Pearse Brothers. There are 260 looms; 240 are 36" reed space and 20 are 45 reed space.

For supplying steam to these engines there are six double flued boilers, each 30 feet long by 7 feet diameter; two are made by Musgrave and Sons and four by Pearse Brothers.

The presses are two in number, one by John Kerr and Co., Dundee, the other by Fawcett, Preston and Co. of Liverpool, who are also the makers of the set of hydraulic pumps (Watson's patent) which work these presses; in the same room are the callenders, the measuring and cutting machines, and there is ample space for storing bags loose and baled.

The mechanic's and smith's shops are well provided with machines and tools, and for driving the former there is a 15 H.P. horizontal engine, but for economy the machines are driven from the factory engine.

The sewing sheds are tiled structures supported by pillars.

There are three jute godowns roofed by brick arches turned on girders supported by cast iron columns.

The following are their dimensions:—

152' 0" x 78' 0"
100' 0" x 42' 0"
88' 0" x 41' 0"

The water-supply is drawn from the river by two portable engines driving centrifugal pumps.

There is a jetty and five covered cargo-boats.

Reserve stores which have not been issued for use in the mills to be taken by the purchaser of the mills at a valuation to be made by an independent mill-owner or manager.

Upset price exclusive of reserve stores Rs. 5,10,000.
